COMMENT

King Football

WHAT—Football classic of the West.
WHEN—2:30 this afternoon.
WHERE—Stanford Stadium.
WHO—University of California and Stanford University.

With his hope for a victory planned securely to the flying bulk of Ernie Nevers Pop Warner thinks that he is going to win the football game this afternoon.

And there you are. Figure it out for yourself. If you attended Stanford or for some reason within or without reason you would like to see Stanford win you are willing to bet your Thanksgiving turkey money that they will be on the long end of the score. If your sympathy is with California, you can figure out just as many reasons why California should win.

One thing both teams have in common this year. The Washington Huskies beat both California to the tune of 7 to 0, while Stanford fared a little worse with a 13 to 0 score.

Football teams, especially college football teams seem to have been originated to give professional dopsters a headache. Just when they have picked out some team to win the championship some little unknown comes along and trounces the champion team ten to 0.

Last night the students of two of the world's largest and best educational institutions teemed with excitement as they hoped worried and boosted for their favorites.

Tonight when the smoke has cleared away, there will be celebration galore. It will not be confined to the students of the winning institutions by any means.

The alumni it has been declared time and time again by those who should be familiar with the situation, take a keen and more sympathetic interest in their college football team than do the students in attendance at the institution.

Be that as it may, all other things will take the background for the next twenty-four hours while football spelled in capital letters larger than those of any star, who ever appeared on Broadway will hold sway.

In a few hours you'll probably hop in the old bus and start for the battle scene, or if you don't like the traffic jam you will probably take a train or in our mind better yet, you'll pick out a nice soft chair a good stogie and let the radio do its stuff. Great invention isn't it?

TURKEY, HE IS
TO IDENTIFY

WALNUT CREEK, Nov. 20.—A turkey, is, without a doubt, a turkey, but is cannot be ordinarily identified completely enough to send a turkey thief to jail.

This fact faces the residents and authorities of this vicinity. Deputy Sheriff Dike Joslin and Constable Harry Stow, aver that although they have found almost 40 turkeys stolen in this district in the last ten days, they find themselves unable to make an arrest.

Persons who have lost turkeys have informed the officers that they are personally satisfied that the birds discovered by the officers belong to them, but they admit that they carry no definite marks of identification.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Standing bravely by his guns in the court martial trial of Col. William Mitchell today Lieut. H. W. Sheridan, 28 years old Army flyer successfully repudiated a supreme effort by the Navy Staff to discredit the testimony he gave yesterday.

The spectacle of the young officer standing pluckily by what he believed to be the truth and undismayed by the presence of high ranking generals, created a deep impression.

Lieut. Sheridan, who accompanied the fleet from San Francisco to Hawaii last spring, described a near collision between the battleship West Virginia and the Aeroplane carrier Langley, which he saw from the deck of a battleship as the fleet was nearing the Golden Gate.

He had also testified that four planes crashed when attempts were made to launch them from the deck of the Langley, during the maneuvers.

Colorado River
Dam Discussed
At Local Meet

The arguments for and against the damming or otherwise obstructing the Colorado river were clearly and interestingly explained before the Republican Women's Federation meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms by Mrs. Dorothy Lenroot Black, daughter of Senator Lenroot.

Mrs. Black stated that representatives of the seven states bordering on the Colorado river and Secretary of Commerce Hoover have been appointed as a commission to investigate the matter. The states on the northern end of the river are opposed to the dam being installed at once, asserting that contracts would first be signed assuring water rights for irrigation, whereas the residents of Southern California desire to have the project started immediately.

Mrs. S. S. Ripley presided. The meeting was devoted exclusively to the lecture by Mrs. Black, business being dispensed with. A large number of both men and women were in attendance.

FROZEN FACED BUSTER MAKES HIT IN FILM

The slang expression, "a wow" fits Buster Keaton's latest laugh-provoker "Go West." By far the most elaborate and convulsing of his career, the frozen faced comedian's picture of the great open spaces had its local premiere at the California theatre yesterday.

Although made for laughing purposes, "Go West" has a thread of pathos and a dramatic sweep that mark a new note in feature comedies. Thousands of cattle stampeding through the streets of a large city and cowboys battling for possession of a train on the desert are among the thrilling scenes.

Keaton takes the part of a young man who leaves the old home town and endeavors to thrust his unprepossessing personality upon a skeptical world. After a series of disappointing and ludicrous adventures in Dixie's cotton fields, the northern lumber camps and other parts of the country, the youth arrives in the west.

Despite his treatment at the hands of the rangers, the newly made cowboy, with the aid of one "Brown Eyes," a "muley" cow, turns the tables on his tormentors, saves a trainload of cattle from a gang of desperadoes, earns the gratitude of the rancher and wins the girl. Some of the most hilarious situations in the picture occur when Buster, leading the cow, rounds up the steers in the city after they charge into department stores, bath houses, barber shops, beauty parlors and other places, terrorizing employees and customers.

Kathleen Myers, Keaton's leading lady, heads a capable supporting cast.

The picture is a Joseph M. Schenck production and is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presentation. Other features on the same program include "Lewis vs Munn," a

MISS COMPSON STARRING AT THE RICHMOND

"Paths to Paradise," featuring Betty Compson and Raymond Griffith, now at the Richmond theatre opens on the scene of a guide showing a group of sight-seers through San Francisco's Chinatown. In an underground dance hall we come across Betty Compson as a fictitious queen of a gang of counterfeiters. She is in the act of "taking over" Ray Griffith, a likely looking chap according to her pals. Ray calls in a friend, after they have relieved him of several hundred dollars by a couple of clever tricks; the two of them flash stars and declare the place under arrest.

Next we find Griffith across the street with his partner dividing the money and jewelry handed over as a bribe. Ray's badge, purposely left behind in the dive, tags him as a "San Francisco Gas Meter Inspector," but he's a clever high-hat crook who doesn't put any stock in the saying that there is honor among thieves.

The scene shifts to a fashionable wedding reception. Griffith, posing as a detective, has managed to get himself installed as guardian of a priceless necklace to be presented to the bride by her father. Betty is also in the house as a maid. The two meet, and there's fireworks. The real detectives arrive, get wise that there is something funny going on and chase Ray and Betty all the way to the Mexican border and back again when they escape with the necklace, undergo a change of heart and return them to the safe a second before the presentation is made.

"Paths to Paradise" is a fast and furious comedy, decidedly off the beaten track for fun films. Ray's twice as funny as he was in either "Forty Winks" or "The Night Club," and Betty never was more delightfully charming. Here's one you'll eat up!

Other features on the same program include "Soup to Nuts," a Neal Burns comedy; "Felix the Cat Comic," a Felix, the cat, comedy.

$800,000 corporation and profits up to 10,000 per cent. Wilbur Pierce and Thomas M. Carlson, of Richmond, attorneys for the defense, produced argu- ments at the trial tending to show that the four defendants were themselves victims of James Gough, believed to be the master mind of the scheme, and they lost their own money through the swindle.

While the fraud was being in- vestigated Gough disappeared and was apprehended several weeks later at Santa Cruz. He pleaded guilty to one count of grand larceny on the promise that he would be a witness for the prosecution if the other indictments would be dismissed. Gough was not called to the stand, however, by either the defense or prosecu- tion.

The aged jurist's protest was strong enough to be a virtual refusal to go on without time for further consid- eration of the two damaging letters which stopped the suit and so abruptly.

Final decision of whether the case will be resumed Monday morning, when court reconvenes, rests with Phillip Kip Rhineland, father of the plaintiff. The elder Rhineland is outside the State at present, and conferences con- cerned will be conducted over the telephone. The question con- fronting the harassed hugenots is this:

"Is the Rhineland family pre- pared to accept the moral and legal consequences of the reading of the two 'mystery' letters into the public record?"

When that issue was put square- ly up to Leonard Rhineland to- night, he was in such a condition of mind and body that he was un- able to consider it, and apparent- ly did not appreciate its import- ance. Three days of searching cross-examination has proved so great a strain on his mind and constitution that friends urged him to rest over the week-end, before committing himself to a decision.

At the same time arrangements were made for communication with his father, for the attitude of the youth was that, since he had al- ready suffered so severe a castiga- tion on cross-examination, he might as well get through the ordeal at any sacrifice.

The young clubman appeared unable to grasp the disastrous possibilities of the two letters to whatever may be left of his per- sonal reputation.

With the two trump letters tuck- ed inside his coat pocket and the pocket securely safety-pinned, Lee Parsons Davis, chief counsel for Mrs. Alice Rhineland, prepared to devote tomorrow to shooting rabbits over his new setter dog.

Grimacing exultantly, the elongat- ed lawyer declared that he had nothing to say because there was nothing to say. The next move, he intimated, was up to young Rhineland and his advisers. As to the contents of the letters, which are known to be realistic in detail, Davis smiled away all guesses.

Mokelumne Bond Signing Starts Penmanship Race

The world's long distance pen- manship race was started yester- day, when officials of the East Bay Municipal Utility District be- gan signing the first of the 39,000 Mokelumne water bonds. The first batch consists of 5,000 bonds of $1,000 denomination making up the $5,000,000 issue which the Board recently voted to sell in order to start the Mokelumne project.

Present at the signing Bee, which was held in the Safe De- posit Department of the Oakland bank, were Alfred Latham, vice- president of Utility District board; John H. Kimball, secretary; Dan- iel Read, treasurer; F. P. Howard bond custodian. The entire bond issue is divided into bonds of $1,000 denomination, making 39,000 pieces of paper. Each of these pieces must bear the signa- ture of three men—Latham, Kim- ball and Read. Signing will con- tinue until all of the 39,000 bonds receive the signatures of the three men, but the bonds will not be actually sold except as the money is needed.

The Bank of Italy took over the first issue of the $5,000,000 worth and has practically sold the entire amount, it was said yesterday. Purchasers have re- ceived receipts and will receive delivery of the actual bonds as soon as they are signed. Thus the case is now available for con- struction work on the Mokelumne project, which is already under way. The Bank of Italy paid a premium of $100,888.

The signing of the bonds fol- lowed news that J. F. Johnson, bank superintendent of California, had officially certified that the Mokelumne bonds are legal in saving banks.

The volleyball league made its bow at the Y. M. C. A. last night, with three hot sets and one forfeit. Every man on seven of the eight teams played the best he knew how and some good contests resulted. Only one game was a walk-away and that was the Wanderers over the Presbyterians. The score of this game was 15 to 0 and 15 to 7.

In the game between the Baptists and the Christians, much excitement was seen. In the second game of the set a long hard struggle took place with the Baptists finally winning out 16 to 15. The scores for the set were 6-15, 16-15, 16-15, and 15-7, favor Baptists.

The Lutherans were handicapped by lack of men in their game with the Wesleys, but they stood four men in and won by scores of 15-7, 14-15 and 15-12. They had no trouble whatever in doing so and practically gave their opponents the second game.

The Y. M. D. started the season with their luck holding. St. Edmund's forfeited.

QUEEN MOTHER END MOURNED BY ALL ENGLAND

By ROBERT J. PREW.
Staff Correspondent Universal Service.

LONDON, Nov. 20. (Special cable to Universal Service.) Queen Alexandra, mother of King George, died at Sandringham House at 5:25 this afternoon, and with her passing one of the few remaining links with the great Victorian era.

A queenly beauty as well as a beautiful queen, Alexandra is mourned throughout the empire, a historical figure as the consort of Britain's greatest Prince of Wales and one of its most popular kings. Adense fog surrounded the royal Norfolk home when the queen mother breathed her last. At the bedside were King George and Queen Mary; her daughters, the queen of Norway and Princess Victoria and Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught.

As soon as the melancholy but fully expected death bulletin was issued, the whole empire went into mourning. Throughout Britain church bells tolled and over all public buildings the flags were put at half mast.

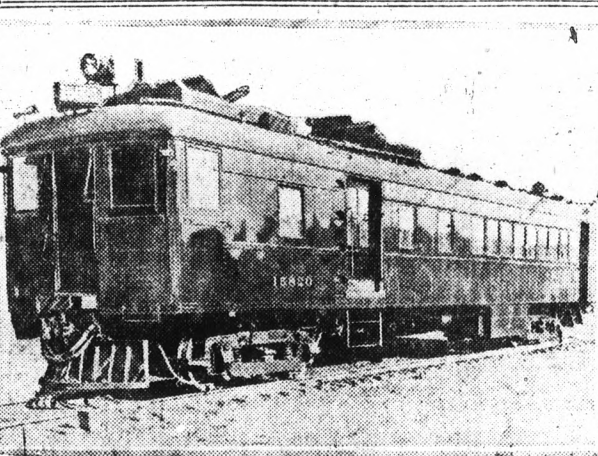

For the first time in its short history wireless broadcasting ceased when the British system announced one hour of silence as a tribute to the memory of the venerable queen mother, and this was followed by a religious memorial service.

Fate played an ironical trick on the city of London. This morning the streets were bedecked with flags in honor of the visit of the Prince of Wales to attend a Guild Hall luncheon which was to celebrate his return from his tour of South Africa and South America. When it was announced that the function had been canceled the decorations were removed, but a few hours later the same flags were hoisted to half mast as a sign of mourning for the demise of Alexandra.

Everything in the new establishment is new and of the latest. The counter, one of the most modern in style and most comfortable made, with the backbar will serve as an excellent setting for the wares of "Dad" Powell, which have earned him much praise.

A complete new kitchen with steam table has been installed, as well as other conveniences, which will make the kitchen one of the most modern in the city. The patronage of the new place is not to be confined to the CAIRO, (Egypt), Nov. 20.—Egypt is facing revolution unless constitutional political life is restored to the people. England must choose between morally and materially supporting the Egyptian constitution, which has now been suspended, or ignored, for almost a year, or treading under foot the instrument of the political freedom of the Egyptian people which England helped to create.

This declaration was made to me today by Zaghlul Pasa, former premier, idol, champion and leader of the masses. This "Grand Old Man" of Egypt, as he has been called, issued a public appeal to the people today, admonishing them to remain quiet and not to resort to violence on Saturday when Parliament will attempt to reassemble in spite of the orders of the government forbidding it.

POLICE BARRIER.

The Parliament building will be surrounded by large detachments of police to prevent the Senators and Deputies from entering, and even troops will be held in readiness to reinforce the police in the event of disorders.

"I fear there will be clashes," said the former premier. "I am opposed to violence, and therefore I am publishing an appeal to the people to remain quiet and refrain from disorders."

"The fact that the government is using armed forces to prevent the lawfully elected representatives meet in accordance with the constitution itself convinces the Egyptian people they are being deprived of their constitutional rights by a despotic government as nothing else could."

REVOLUTION PREDICTED.

The Zivar government in a communique prohibiting the reconvening of Parliament, promised early new elections. Zaghlul said that he favored giving the government time to make good that promise, and he predicts:

"If Parliament is not allowed to convene and if the government does not make good the promise of new elections, Egypt will have a revolution."

Tall and square, but vigorous, the 73-year-old Egyptian statesman declared emphatically:

"If it comes to that much of the responsibility will rest on England, which, tacitly at least, has countenanced King Faud's and his government's gross violations of the very constitution which England helped to give the Egyptian people and which they are determined to preserve."

Graduates Of R. U. H. S. Attend Last Function

Seniors of Richmond Union high school who will graduate this term attended their last school social function last night. The affair was in the nature of a dance and was given in the gymnasium of the school. The place was attractively decorated and the students and alumni enjoyed the evening to the strains of symphonies wafted from the instruments of the school orchestra, headed by Paul Basham. Miss Teresa Meyers was in charge of the dance.

Woman Swimmer, Competing with Runner and Walker, Makes 4 Miles in 1 Hour and 10 Seconds

Mile. Gade, swimming instructor of the Naval Militia, attached to the training ship Illinois, stationed at New York, tried recently to swim four miles in less time than it would take a runner to cover eight miles and a walker to cover four miles, all starting simultaneously. Mile. Gade, swimming in the Hudson river, finished second in 1 hour and 10 seconds. The walker, Chief Petty Officer Joseph Lamb, made the best time—47 minutes—while the runner, Seaman August Friedrichsen, finished last with a time of 1 hour and 2 minutes. The photograph shows (left to right) Friedrichsen, Mile. Gade and Lamb.

Secret Marriage
Made Known Here

Announcement has been made of a secret marriage that took place last June with G. Dagna and Miss Carrie Cogola as the principal parties. The couple were married in San Francisco and had kept their marriage secret until yesterday.

Dagna is the proprietor of the grocery department in the quality market and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cogola of 1009 Stannage avenue, Berkeley.

The newlyweds have taken up a residence at the Georgia apartments.

Woodwork Shop
At High School
Proves Valuable

The value of the woodwork shops of Richmond Union high school is manifested by the quality of work turned out by the boys, according to William Neely, instructor of manual training and forge work at the school. One of the principal aims of the shops is to give the boys an idea as to whether or not they like the work and to allow them to go out after graduation and take up carpentry, pattern making or mill work.

Another value of the work is that the interest of the students is aroused, thus encouraging them to put some of their spare time into creating articles for themselves.

According to Neely the students have taken scrap lumber and built a small attractive and neat office in the shops. They have equipped it with a glass paneled door made by themselves.

Nut bowls have been made of mahogany by the boys with the metal parts being turned by the students of the machine shops. They have also made mahogany Italian tables worth from $40 to $50; all typewriter tables used at Roosevelt Junior high school, doors for the teachers' lockers in the same school, paneled doors for the lockers in the science room at the Union high school, and all tables and benches in the mechanical drawing room.

Another feature of the work turned out is the piano dollies and the lathe beds for use in the entire school department. Also the boys feature pattern making for the machine shops. These patterns that have been made are valued at more than $200. During the last year the work of boys alone has saved the school department.

Conference for Advanced Boy
Scouts in South

The conference of advanced Boy Scouts, which will take place at Pasadena next Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be attended by Robert MacGregor of Troop No. 1 and Robert Grace of Troop No. 4, who with twenty other boys from Contra Costa county will make the trip.

The Scouts will make the trip by automobile leaving here on Thursday. All Scouts, who are going to the conference, will spend the night in the Scout hall.

A rally and entertainment will be given by the Richmond boys on Wednesday evening for all the scouts of the county.

TRAFFIC RULES
ARE DRAWN UP
FOR BIG GAME

Strict enforcement of traffic rules will be necessary today when the heaviest automobile traffic ever experienced in the state is expected today between Stanford and San Francisco. A set of rules have been drawn up by the California Automobile Association, the Stanford Board of Control and traffic officers to govern the roads.

All machines en route to the Stadium will be stopped and furnished copies of the regulations and charts of the parking spaces. Following are the regulations:

Motorists from San Francisco approaching the stadium over the Peninsula highway will be diverted onto the campus at Palm drive and parked in areas 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, which are located between Palm drive and the stadium.

Overflow will be parked west of Palm drive. Motorists intending to return to San Francisco directly after the game will avoid delay and confusion by making sure that they enter one of these areas.

Traffic approaching the stadium from the south will be direct to parking areas 1, 2, and 3 on the polo field and between the polo field and the stadium.

Cars entering the campus over the Skyline boulevard and via Woodside will be directed across "fraternity row" and past the dormitories to areas 4, 5, and 6, which are between the gymnasium and the stadium.

Motorists desiring to go south from the stadium should leave the Peninsula highway at Beresford, passing through Redwood City and entering Palo Alto over the Middlefield road, continuing south on the Middlefield road to Melville avenue, west on Melville to Cowper street and south on Cowper to Churchill avenue, which leads to parking areas 1, 2 and 3.

To accommodate pedestrian traffic between the Southern Pacific stadium station and the stadium, the Peninsula highway will be closed for one-half mile from 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., as well as the Embarcadero road south of the Southern Pacific tracks.

From 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., through southbound traffic will be diverted into the University grounds immediately after crossing the San Francisco creek bridge.

Through northbound traffic will be diverted at Lincoln avenue in Mayfield and over Bryant street and Coleridge avenue to the Middlefield road, returning to the Peninsula highway at Menlo Park, Redwood City or Beresford.

Start early and select your route in advance the Automobile Association advises. Keep in line, take your time, give the proper signals and obey traffic officers is the formula the Auto Association prescribes for the motorist who wants to get to the game and home again without an accident street traffic officers will patrol all routes leading from the bay cities to Palo Alto, while Palo Alto police and student officers will handle traffic in the vicinity of the stadium.

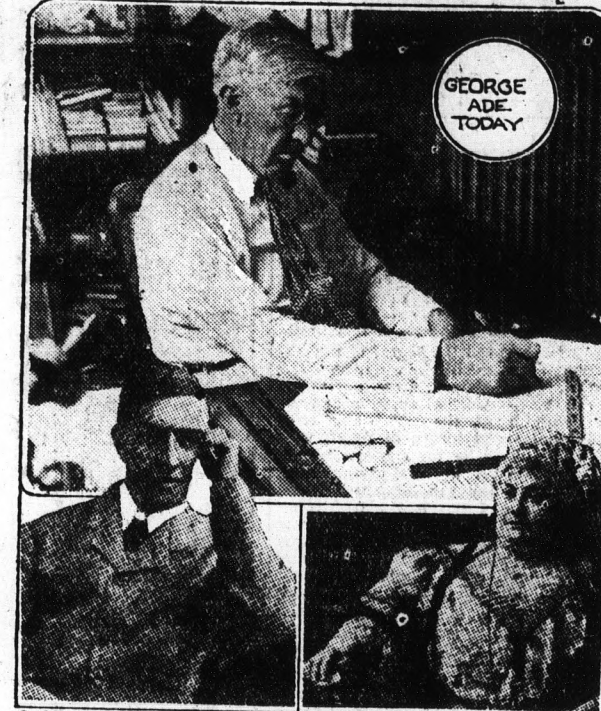

Dancing Features
Will Be Seen at
Elk's Annual Show

Dancing features on the Richmond Elks' annual Christmas charity show at the California theatre on December 7, 8, and 9, will be some cleverly conceived Charleston variations to be offered by four Richmond boys, Lou Schroeder, Jr., Marvin Clark, George Clark and Claud Gibbons.

Another dancing feature will be the attractions by Irwin Cassidy, well known Richmond boy, and Miss Peggy Bates of Berkeley, who are making a decided hit before audiences in the Eastbay.

Mrs. H. J. Hennessy, head of the publicity committee, is now working on an attractive souvenir program, to contain a complete review of the play and cast.

First $100,000 Was Hardest to Get,
Says Ade, Telling How to Write Plays

Rich at fifty odd from earnings that came from his pen, George Ade, author and playwright, is letting the public into his confidence as to how he made his first hundred thousand dollars.

"The first hundred thousand certainly was the hardest to get," he confesses in Hearst's International Cosmopolitan for November, charting how he started as a 36-cent newspaper reporter, turned to selling patent medicines, then to syndicated newspaper features and finally to play writing. When he sold his first play, for $200, he recalls:

"That check looked like all the money in the world to me!"

Mr. Ade compares prices paid for plays a half manuscript along about 1900 with those paid playwrights today, and sets down in dollars and cents the exact amounts he has been paid for his plays and light operas.

The old saying that if the dress rehearsal is satisfactory, the opening night will be unsatisfactory, and vice versa, often proves true, the playwright reflects, and cites some of the surprises first nights have brought him.

Summing up his suggestions to young authors as to how they can progress toward attainment of the first $100,000, Mr. Ade states in the magazine article:

"Producing a play is the prize risk. If a man writes a book and the book does not appeal to a public, it dies a man writes a play that turns out to be a vegetable, he must put his head through a sheet and permit the world to throw things at him."

Old Fashioned
San Pablo Baptist

In good old "Down East" style the Thanksgiving spirit is to be ushered in tomorrow evening at the San Pablo Baptist Community church, with a display of nature's bounty. Gifts of food for Thanksgiving distribution are to be laid upon the platform.

All the services of the day will have the breath of the Thanksgiving spirit. Each child in Sunday school will bring some small article of food for the display to show his personal acknowledgment of God's goodness. The Young People's service at 6:30 will also have the Thanksgiving theme.

The pastor, Rev. C. T. Axworthy will use as his morning theme, the question, "Should We Be Thankful for the Old Testament?" There will be several special musical numbers for the evening service.

The choir of the church, under the direction of Mrs. Stahl, is also preparing for a special evening service of Christmas music to be given in the form of a cantata for Sunday evening preceding Christmas.

Pier At 11:00

A special Southern Pacific train bound for Palo Alto and the Stanford Stadium, will leave the Oakland pier at 11 o'clock this morning. The train will stop at First and Broadway station at 11:10 o'clock and at Fruitvale station at 1:20. These are the only two stops that will be made.

The train is scheduled to arrive at the stadium about 12:40 and as soon as it is tided after the game it will start back to Oakland.

Old Rivals Will Enter
Stanford Bowl Today for Big Game On Even Terms

Game Expected To Be The Greatest Football Classic Ever Witnessed on The Pacific Coast, Cardinals Put Most of Their Hopes in The Work of Ernie Nevers

Thirty three years ago this time 18,000 "flocked" to San Francisco to see Stanford University and the University of California play in the first big game. Marvelous in 1892. Today over 100,000 fans are in Palo Alto for the sole purpose of seeing the Golden Bear and the Cardinal hosts play what will without a doubt be one of the greatest games of all time on the coast.

Stanford approaches the pinnacle of its glory. She will enter the game with a full determination to do something that the red shirts have not done in twenty years of American football—beat the Bear.

Grimly expectant, Stanford awaits the foe this morning. One man carries the hopes of the Cardinals. He is Ernie Nevers, captain. He is expected to offset almost an entire team. But Nevers is one of the greatest men ever developed in the game and his power will stop the Bruin horde, according to the expectations of the Stanford adherents.

Stanford has definitely lost its inferiority complex. It took teams that beat California to beat Stanford this year and where the Bear triumphed so did the Cards. They played on a par with Bruin last year and whereas California seems to have gone back this season Stanford has forged steadily ahead.

On the other hand, California will not swarm into the Stanford bowl today lacking power. What is playing in the back of Andy Smith's mind this morning will not be known except by a chosen few until a gun roars somewhere around 5:20 p. m. today. Dopesters believe that the Smith men will use a kicking game and depend on their old and faithful friend Lady Luck to provide the winning breaks.

Of course a Stanford backer declares to the world that Stanford will win while a Californian is all for California. However, unprejudiced watchers of the game say it is a fifty-fifty break. A little luck might sway the tide of battle, one gapping hole might give either team a chance, an intercepted pass might allow a man to get away, in short innumerable incidents might break to the advantage of either team.

It is said that the game will be greatest ever seen in the West. No doubt it will, and no doubt it will live for years in the memory of the fans, but an accurate prediction of the outcome cannot be made.

HOME SCIENCE FOR BOYS

Training in home management should be given to boys as well as girls. That is a theory dear to the heart of Mrs. Anna L. Burdick of Washington, D. C., federal director of work among girls and women in industry.

"Limiting a man's conception of the home-making business to fixing the electric fuses and building an occasional chicken coop on Saturday afternoons, is not preparing him to found a well-rounded family life.

"While mothers and fathers do not have exactly the same responsibilities toward their children, they certainly have responsibilities that are equal in importance. If we train girls to be efficient mothers, we should certainly train boys to be worth-while fathers."

Mrs. Burdick is not pleading that a boy should be taught to sew and bake and scrub, although it wouldn't hurt a young man to know how such jobs should be tackled any more than it would hurt a young woman to know how to fix the electric fuses and do a little simple carpentering and plumbing in emergencies. But everything from budgeting the family finances and maintaining the family health to disciplining the children and keeping the domestic machinery running smoothly, would be better handled if both parents undertook all the problems involved and appreciated the need of co-operation.

without representation is tyranny," and four Communists are now appraised of the fact that the name of the president of the American Federation of Labor is Green and not Red, but he isn't either of them.

CHINESE AUTHORITY

Occidentals who imagine there is no government in China should consider the edict just issued by the Chinese minister of education on the subject of feminine arms and knees in educational institutions.

Chinese flappers, it appears, have been snared by the world-wide fashion. Chinese colleges and secondary schools have broken out with a profusion of flowered silks revealing unexpected flashes of bare arms and knees, with stockings rolled down in the western manner, much to the scandal of old-fashioned orientals. So the edict goes forth:

"Sleeves shall reach the wrist and skirts shall touch the ankle, and those who disobey these instructions shall be severely punished."

The Chinese authorities will probably get away with it, too. And that is more than any public authority could do in this supposedly well governed land.

THE ULTIMATE PLEASURE CARE

Perhaps the world should be informed that a hearse is "a pleasure vehicle." At any rate, that is what it is in an Ohio county.

The county auditor reasons thus: There are four types of motor vehicle listed for taxation. They are trucks, taxicabs, busses and pleasure cars. The hearse obviously isn't a truck. Just as obviously it can't be called a taxicab or bus, because the occupant doesn't pay any fare. So what else can it be but a pleasure car?

He may be right, at that. The patron feels no jolts or accidents on his last ride, faces no bill at the end, returns to no job. Presumably he is bound for a pleasant place.

At the same time the definition does invite a

Amplifiers Help Aviation's Big Days; Crowds at Air Races Will Hear and See

More interest than usual attaches to the 1925 Air Races which will be held at Mitchell Field, near New York, beginning October 9th, because of the remarkable speed already displayed by one of the new planes built for the high speed race for the Pulitzer Trophy. The record-breaking speed of 302 miles an hour was attained by the first of the new planes in a test flight.

High speed, however, is not the main interest of the air races. The races are, instead, a demonstration in the progress of aviation and the conquest of the air. The ease, comfort and safety of flying with its possibilities for commercial application are the underlying interest, and for this purpose almost everyone of importance who is interested in aviation will gather at Mitchell Field. The air races are also a convention of the important personalities of aviation.

An event of this kind introduces new problems in handling great crowds and keeping them informed of what is going on. The all-important link between the direction of the races and the public is a Public Address System, installed by Western Electric engineers. An announcer at a microphone speaks in an ordinary tone of voice; his words are amplified and projected through horns mounted on posts at intervals of sixty-five feet in front of the spectators, all of whom can hear clearly and distinctly. In this way it is possible for the crowd to have an explanation of everything which happens without delay, and everyone is as much in touch with the race as if he were an aviation expert and one of the official committee.

GUIDES TO CHIC

The smart bordered materials need no other trimming to give them all the chic required, as the model to the left shows. It is developed in silk crepe in the new 54-inch width, and the home dressmaker only needs as much as is required for the width of her frock. The length is supplied in the width of the crepe. Finishing the neck is a monk collar with a string tie. If preferred, the fronts may be underfaced and rolled to form revers.

The second model is made of 54-inch silk that features an original polka-dot pattern. The front of the dress may be opened over a narrow panel of contrasting material, if preferred. The V-shaped neck is finished with a collar cut in one with the tie string, and the sleeves are long and close-fitting. Medium size requires 1 1/2 yard of material 54 inches wide.

First Model: Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2672. Sizes, 14 to 20 years and 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

Two Weeks of Food Bargains

ARE you one of the thousands of women whose bugbear is deciding what they shall give their families to eat? Your resources are much greater than you may realize. For instance, there are over 200 varieties of canned foods alone, and many ways of using them. That is why Canned Foods Week is held. (Nov. 9th-21st). During this period grocers will help the housewife get acquainted with tinned foods. Their shelves will be unusually well stocked with staples, novelties, delicacies, specialties, many of them at reduced rates. Take along paper and pencil to jot down suggestions.

Every Housewife An Artist

NOW that the inventiveness of our age has removed the drudgery of food preparation from the housewife's shoulders and electrical equipment has relieved her of much household labor, the housewife can at last turn her attention to making the food served at her table as palatable and attractive to the eye as that of any French chef.

If she wants to give her family the valuable iron and other minerals salts found in spinach, she does not have to buy a peck of spinach and spend three quarters of an hour washing it through gallons of water to remove that last grain of sand. She merely heats and opens a can, slices a hard-boiled egg or a tomato to garnish it with and the dish is ready for the table.

Or if it is beef she wishes for supper, she does not need to stay home and boil the beef. She may stay out shopping or visiting an hour longer, and get the can of beef at the grocer's. But that is all the more reason that she should serve her family only the best. She can turn her attention to the making of the most delicious sauces and gravies. She can learn to heat the beef to just the right shade of brownness, accompanied by a perfect gravy and garnished as if by a French chef, and serve to her family Beef a la Henriette.

Lemons may be cut in many fancy ways to make a dish more attractive. Parsley, green peppers, grated cheese, mushrooms and tomatoes are only a few of the supplies any housewife has at her command to make her dinners a sight ancient Kings would have looked upon with the greatest envy.

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY
TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. P. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons
"BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore was to announce her engagement tonight at Aunt Celine's Connecticut home but, instead, she garbed herself as a nun and disappeared. Hailing David Lacy, who was passing, they drove to the Sound and crossed it together. After driving to the other shore of Long Island, they found themselves aboard a yacht with Pooch, Doc, McTish and Sweetie, all strangers to them. There is much talk of bootleggers and pursuits by revenue officers.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

Connemara was obedient, and watched Sweetie, fascinated, as the girl shook out the ample breadths of the nun's robe. "Lot's of stuff here, even if it is kinda ragged out. Listen—I'm going to cut you a new dress, a one-piece slip, and sew it together so you'll look human. You can't go round here with all this mess flapping round your feet, especially when you got such good looking feet. Lemme hold this up to you. Gee, you certainly got swell underclothes."

She held the stuff against Connemara, and then hacked away at it boldly. She seized the needle and thread and made stitches so swift that Connemara's eyes could not follow them. She was fiercely concentrated and did not speak, except once, to murmur, "Gee, this brings back the days at Madame's."

Connemara, watching her, realized that Sweetie was really a very pretty girl, and that with her bold bandit manner laid aside she was nothing more.

"There musta been twenty yards of goods in this rig," she exclaimed. "Lucky there was too. Here, how's this?" She brought out a long piece and laid it over Connemara's shoulders. "Throw it round your neck sort of swell and careless. That's the idea. Well, come on, let's go and see what the babies on deck are up to. I'll bet their eyes will pop when they see us. Pants do give you such a good free feeling—I wish women never wore skirts."

They came out of the bunk room into the dimness of the deck, and as they did so David Lacy came forward.

"I've missed your sweet society, dear ladies, very much," he started to say, and then his voice sharpened to amazement. He was staring at Connemara, metamorphosed from a nun into a modern girl, white frock, white turban, white scarf. "Why," he exclaimed breathlessly, "why—you are—you are—I did see you at Autenil—I could swear—but no, it's too fantastic!"

He broke off, aware that the girl was staring past him with puzzled eyes.

"What's the matter with that little light on the mast?" she asked. "It's been giving the queerest flashes for the last two minutes—long and short ones like somebody signaling."

CHAPTER X

By Robert Gordon and Robert Gordon and

"Flashes from the masthead!"

Lacy's words were half startled ejaculation, half question, his glance following the direction of hers.

Sure enough, the lantern winked once, then relapsed into its usual fixed white stare. The signaling, if signaling it was, had ceased.

Perplexed, for he had never gazed up any such outfit on his boat, he looked around for the cause. Pooch was again bending over his engine; Pooch and Doc were still hanging hog-tied, forward. But no one had moved from his position.

"Didn't I tell you to stay where you were put?" Lacy demanded of the recumbent Doc, and tried to prod him away. Doc, however, proved stubborn, and the young man drew back his leg in that arch way Charley O'Hearn—and the reporters—so gracefully described when he tries for goal in the Bowl. But apparently the beam of that line from heel to hip had charms for Doc. Under its influence he moved reluctantly, and Lacy, bending over, discovered a but small a little below the level of the deck so that no passing heel could depress it.

Southern Pacific's Railroad Construction Plans Will Provide New Direct Transcontinental Line To East

Sketched in this map is the new direct transcontinental route from Oregon and the North Coast to the East via Klamath Falls, Ore.; Alturas, Cal.; Fernley, Nev.; and Ogden, Utah, planned by the Southern Pacific Company.

"Southern Pacific plans will give Portland and Oregon a new, direct transcontinental line to the East, so located on the one hand to serve the greatest agricultural and timber sections of Oregon, and on the other hand, provide a mid-continental route giving these sections direct service to the major part of the United States." This was the central point made in the testimony of William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company, before the Interstate Commerce Commission at the Oregon railway hearing before Director of Finance Charles D. Mahaffie at Portland, October 9.

"Locally, Southern Pacific proposals," said Mr. Sproule, "first promote the natural development of territory in Oregon on the Nevada-California-Oregon Railway, including the timbered areas in the Lakeview basin, second, through our taking an interest in the Oregon, California & Eastern road, those lines will be extended to make available the timber resources tributary to the Sprague River and the Williamson and Sycan rivers; third, through the Natron cutoff we will serve the Cascade and Klamath region.

"The Klamath and Lakeview basins will be made fully accessible and timber that nature has made tributary to those basins will find its proper outlet. The new lines will give the farming and live stock interests of both basins access to markets east and west, north and south, by the shortest lines possible and double tracked for the most part."

Mr. Sproule's testimony with respect to the main line east from Oregon was based on the application of his company for authority from the Interstate Commerce Commission to construct a line of railroad from Klamath Falls on the new Natron cutoff line southeasterly through the Tule Lake country, to the broadgauge Nevada-California-Oregon at Alturas, thence via Ogden to the east.

The Shortest Line

The Southern Pacific line from Klamath Falls via Natron to Portland, the witness pointed out, is 117 miles less than to Portland via Bend over the proposed Oregon Trunk line. Mr. Sproule also cited the following comparisons of distances from Klamath Falls via Bend and Alturas:

"To Chicago, the line via Bend will be 293 miles longer by Great Northern and 277 miles longer by Northern Pacific.

"To St. Louis, the line via Bend will be 581 miles longer by Great Northern and 485 miles longer by Northern Pacific.

"To St. Paul, the Alturas line will be 46 miles longer than the Great Northern and 19 miles shorter than the Northern Pacific.

"To Omaha, the Alturas line will be 330 miles shorter than the Northern Pacific via Billings.

"To Kansas City, the Alturas line will be 368 miles shorter than the Northern Pacific via Billings." The witness said: "Southern Pacific plans provide facilities for all traffic of the Klamath territory superior to those proposed by the Oregon Trunk and without duplication. We oppose the entry into this territory by that line, as not in the public interest, but as representing a real detriment to the public through dividing between two lines a business which is not more than enough for the support of one. It is against the public interest to construct more railroads than are needed. Excess construction only results in a lame return upon the money put into the lines, with an inferior service by each of them and a burden upon the public."

Regarding the Klamath-Tule Lake-Alturas line, Mr. Sproule said: "If the Oregon Trunk line is not built and if the application of O. C. & E. has the approval of the commission there is no question that the Strahorn line, in which the Southern Pacific will have a joint interest, will care properly for all traffic needs in the timber and valley country lying to the northeast and east of Klamath Falls, and the Natron cutoff will take care of the remainder, excepting only that which is adjacent to the Oregon Trunk rather than to the Klamath Falls.

"The Strahorn application includes the construction of a line to Lakeview, and in his answers to interrogatories, Mr. Strahorn mentions an understanding with the Southern Pacific for the use of this line as a through route for traffic between Oregon and Nevada. Speaking for the Southern Pacific, we would prefer that the commission pass upon the application for this particular construction without reference to the use of the line for the purpose stated. It is true that the Southern Pacific has at different times considered the possibility of this line as part of a through route, but it has also had under consideration other routes from Klamath Falls to reach its Central Pacific main line, but not passing through Lakeview. In fact, we have reached a decision and have publicly announced what we want to do in this respect. We have applied for permission to construct a line from Klamath Falls to Cornell and have concluded that the most suitable through route for a connection with our Central Pacific main line will be to continue the proposed Klamath Falls line across Tule Lake to a connection with the N. C. O., as planned in 1908, but not having determined upon the place at which it would connect we originally applied to the commission for permission to build to Cornell. Since this hearing has been called our engineers have made further reports which point to the general direction of Alturas as the more direct and serviceable route, and we have, on October 2, filed with the commission in Washington, formal application for authority to construct accordingly.

Open Up Farming District

"Construction of a line from Klamath Falls to Cornell will open up to rail transportation some 150,000 acres of farming or pasture land. It is not expected that the local traffic will itself prove sufficiently remunerative for a long time, but we ask the commission to consider in connection with our present application that this is part of a through line from Oregon to Nevada, Utah and east via Nevada-California-Oregon Railway and Central Pacific through Ogden."

As to construction expenditures, Mr. Sproule said:

"Expenditures of over thirty-six and one-half millions of dollars for the Natron line passing through Klamath Falls have an intimate bearing upon these applications, one of which, to-wit, that of the Oregon Trunk, would imperil this large investment, while the other will safeguard it. Further and proposed investments of $15,029,000 are those with which this hearing directly deals. These consist of our interest in the O. C. & E. Railway and its proposed extensions, proposed investment in Nevada-California-Oregon Railway and the standard gauging of that road, the proposed construction by Southern Pacific from Klamath Falls to Cornell and its extension from Cornell to Alturas. On the Natron line, now nearing completion, we will have spent $38,565,000, which, with the $15,029,000 covered by our present applications will make our total investment from Black Butte summit via Grass Lake to Klamath Falls, Natron and Springfield, on the one hand, and from Klamath Falls to Fernley and Lakeview on the other hand, total $51,594,000.

"We wish to supplement and strengthen the greater investment by improving the service and giving it greater dispatch." After noting that Southern Pacific development plans in South Central Oregon were tied up for years by the Central Pacific litigation, Mr. Sproule said:

Why Did They Wait?

"It may be pointed out that the Oregon Trunk interests were unhampered by government intervention and litigation such as we experienced and were free and able to undertake construction at any time since they reached Bend in 1911. So why did they wait fourteen years until the Southern Pacific had received permission to complete its Natron line and had made very heavy expenditures in consequence? Why did they wait until Mr. Strahorn had perfected his plans and built forty miles of his railroad and made application for extensions? Application by us for permission to build a line to Bend to participate in the lumber traffic there would be quite as much in order, and as little serve public convenience or necessity.

Finally, as to the Oregon Trunk: Why have they been silent and made no move during the long years of our pioneering, in which we have been in good faith making such large investments in the Klamath region, which has become productive through the enterprise of its citizens conjointly with ourselves? The obvious reason is that they have been waiting for us to put our money into this region for its development and, after we have done so, then come in at small expense to themselves to take from us the just rewards of our enterprise. We have invested all the money and taken all the chances. Had our enterprise failed it would have been our misfortune to have borne the loss. Yet now we are threatened with the misfortune of being unable to carry out our plans by their natural conclusion, because the proposed extension from Bend would divert to Trunk lines to the north, which have contributed nothing to the development of this region, that business which the Southern Pacific as the parent line may fairly claim to have earned by construction and service."

LYCEUM HERE WILL INCLUDE GOOD TALENT

The Lyceum program which will be given in the Lincoln auditorium on November 28th will include many especially fine numbers. These entertainments are given under the auspices of the Redpath Bureau and were brought to this city through the efforts of the Church Fellowship committee.

Character sketches and humorous poems will be given by Miss Floss Grosjean, in addition to several numbers of ventriloquism. Miss Grosjean is also a fine banjoist, saxophone and pianist. She is one of the feature artists of the company who always promises several hearty laughs.

Harry L. Jensen who is a fine saxophonist contributes many fine numbers to the entertainment. A Marimba-xylophone concert by Miss Armina Wilson will add much to the program, especially for music lovers who do not have an opportunity to hear this instrument frequently.

Trading Stamps Are To Be Given By H. Marcus, Inc.

When the doors of the Harry Marcus' Inc. department store open today another advance will be made in the progress of the establishment. The well known S. & H. trading stamps will be given with all purchases made at the store today and all days following.

Through this nationally known sales premium Marcus becomes associated with some of the leading stores of the bay section and of the country. Special gifts will inaugurate the installation of the S. & H. stamps at the Marcus store tomorrow.

One feature of importance in connection with the Marcus store will be the fact that a stamp depot will be located in the store, so that those who have full books of stamps to be redeemed may turn them in at the depot in the store instead of having to go to other cities for this convenience.

A wide list of premiums are obtainable by those who have filled books to be redeemed and it is expected that the inauguration of the stamps in the Marcus store will interest a large portion of the Richmond buying public.

NEW MEXICAN BILL REACHES WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. — (By Universal Service.) — A copy of the New Mexican land bill, passed by the Chamber of Deputies in Mexico City last week, reached the State department today.

While the text has not yet been officially translated by the department, it was learned from other sources that it provides the following regulations in regard to alien property rights in that country:

1.—No alien may personally acquire ownership of land or water within a strip of 100 kilometers along the border and 50 on the seashore.

2.—An alien who belongs to a Mexican corporation owning land or water, or holding concessions for operating mines, waters or fuel must sign an agreement that he considers himself a "National" in regard to his property rights. In this matter he must pledge himself not to invoke the protection of his Government in anything that refers to his property.

3.—The permit mentioned in the preceding article shall not be granted in the case of Mexican corporations engaged in agriculture in which aliens hold 5 per cent or more of the interests of the corporation.

4.—Corporations owning real estate or stock for agricultural purposes which do not conform to the foregoing article must dispose of their holdings within 10 years from the date of the promulgation of the law.

5.—The rights forming the subject of this law that are not included in the preceding article and have been lawfully acquired by aliens prior to the going into effect of the law, may be held by the present owners until they die.

6.—Aliens who by inheritance acquire rights to which aliens are barred by the law, may secure a permit through the department of foreign relations, by which their rights may be transferred to some person competent under the law to receive them.

7.—Aliens who may have rights in the class of those who come under this law, acquired prior to its going into operation, must make declaration to the department of foreign relations in the year following the date of the promulgation of the law. If he fails to do so, it will be held that acquisition was made after the law was promulgated.

8.—Instruments executed and contracts made in contravention of the provisions contained in article, will give occasion for the sale at auction of the property included therein.

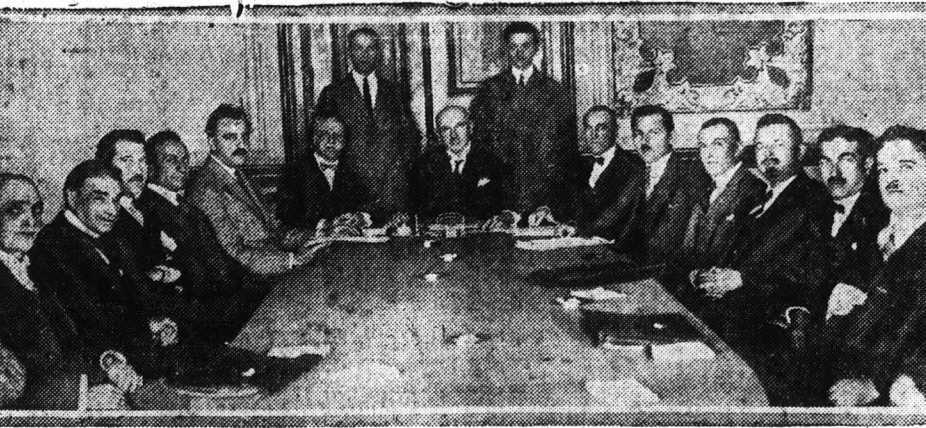

9.—This law does not remove restrictions placed by special law on aliens regarding the acquisition of rights.

10.—The executive will issue regulations for the execution of the provisions of this law.

11.—This law will become effective from the date of its promulgation.

12.—For the purpose of this law, leases of real property for a term exceeding 10 years or such extensions as may be strictly required by establishment or services with industrial, mining, oil or other nonagricultural concerns, shall not be regarded as alienation of property without prejudice to what special laws may provide.

Woodwork Shop At High School Proves Valuable

partment more than $500, Neely said.

The students may turn out any articles for themselves, provided they furnish their own lumber. Many radio cabinets have been designed and made and although the boys do not make a practice of putting them on the market, though some have been sold for a good price.

Machinery now in use in the woodwork shop of Richmond high school represents an investment of approximately $10,000. The students have the use of five wood lathes, a 32-inch hand saw, an automatic saw, sharpener, tool sharpener, wood surface, wood mortice machine for planning off all rough edges of the wood prior to gluing, a sander, a wood heater to facilitate gluing. This apparatus provides for uniform spreading of glue and prevents glue from stiffening. All machinery is electrically driven.

The work which the three classes of Union high school do is in the advanced class. Preliminary training is obtained at the Junior high school, where the work is carefully turned out by hand.
